if you want to know more about who Balin REALLY IS, READ THIS FROM MOVEON

Yesterday was John McCain's 72nd birthday. If elected, he'd be the oldest president ever inaugurated. And after months of slamming Barack Obama for "inexperience," here's who John McCain has chosen to be one heartbeat away from the presidency: a right-wing religious conservative with no foreign policy experience, who until recently was mayor of a town of 9,000 people.

Huh?

Who is Sarah Palin? Here's some basic background:

- She was elected Alaska's governor a little over a year and a half ago. Her previous office was mayor of Wasilla, a small town outside Anchorage. She has no foreign policy experience.¹
- Palin is strongly anti-choice, opposing abortion even in the case of rape or incest.²
- She supported right-wing extremist Pat Buchanan for president in 2000.³
- Palin thinks creationism should be taught in public schools.⁴
- She's doesn't think humans are the cause of climate change.⁵
- She's solidly in line with John McCain's "Big Oil first" energy policy. She's pushed hard for more oil drilling and says renewables won't be ready for years. She also sued the Bush administration for listing polar bears as an endangered species—she was worried it would interfere with more oil drilling in Alaska.⁶
- How closely did John McCain vet this choice? He met Sarah Palin once at a meeting. They spoke a second time, last Sunday, when he called her about being vice-president. Then he offered her the position.⁷

This is information the American people need to see. Please take a moment to forward this email to your friends and family.

We also asked Alaska MoveOn members what the rest of us should know about their governor.

The response was striking. Here's a sample:

She is really just a mayor from a small town outside Anchorage who has been a governor for only 1.5 years, and has ZERO national and international experience. I shudder to think that she could be the person taking that 3AM call on the White House hotline, and the one who could potentially be charged with leading the US in the volatile international scene that exists today. —Rose M., Fairbanks, AK

She is VERY, VERY conservative, and far from perfect. She's a hunter and fisherwoman, but votes against the environment again and again. She ran on ethics reform, but is currently under investigation for several charges involving hiring and firing of state officials. She has NO experience beyond Alaska. —Christine B., Denali Park, AK

As an Alaskan and a feminist, I am beyond words at this announcement. Palin is not a feminist, and she is not the reformer she claims to be. —Karen L., Anchorage, AK

Alaskans, collectively, are just as stunned as the rest of the nation. She is doing well running our State, but is totally inexperienced on the national level, and very much unequipped to run the nation, if it came to that. She is as far right as one can get, which has already been communicated on the news. In our office of thirty employees (dems, republicans, and nonpartisans), not one person feels she is ready for the V.P. position.—Sherry C., Anchorage, AK
She's vehemently anti-choice and doesn't care about protecting our natural resources, even though she has worked as a fisherman. McCain chose her to pick up the Hillary voters, but Palin is no Hillary. —Marina L., Juneau, AK

I think she's far too inexperienced to be in this position. I'm all for a woman in the White House, but not one who hasn't done anything to deserve it. There are far many other women who have worked their way up and have much more experience that would have been better choices. This is a patronizing decision on John McCain's part- and insulting to females everywhere that he would assume he'll get our vote by putting "A Woman" in that position.—Jennifer M., Anchorage, AK

So Governor Palin is a staunch anti-choice religious conservative. She's a global warming denier who shares John McCain's commitment to Big Oil. And she's dramatically inexperienced. In picking Sarah Palin, John McCain has made the religious right very happy. And he's made a very dangerous decision for our country. In the next few days, many Americans will be wondering what McCain's vice-presidential choice means. Please pass this information along to your friends and family.

Thanks for all you do.

Subj: RE: MORE ABOUT SARAH PALIN FROM MOVEON

Hello:

My name is (navy1). I received your mailing from a friend who may have accidentally hit "forward to all" on her mailing list.

Let's look at your argument. I am a bar mitzvahed Jew, not a fundamental Christian, although one of my daughters is, and to be honest, I have found many Christians to be more accepting than many Jews. In the 21 years I spent in the Navy I met people from all over, not just a small Jewish clique within which I was born (like you?) Obama has a life-long history of kissing the butts of anti-Semites and America-haters. He is an empty suit filled about knee-high with resentment and bigotry, having achieved his place in life through affirmative action and through working with white guilt. He has no experience except for being a part of Mayor Daley's Chicago Thug Machine, universally acknowledged as the most corrupt and brutal Dem machine in the U.S. His VP, Biden, is a life-long pol ("Change We Can Believe In!") whose entire career has been one of trying to hurt the U.S. Neither one of them has ever held a real job working for an organization that actually produces a product and adds to the domestic gross national product. They are the very flowers of the Dem Party.

I am enjoying, frankly, the Dems go psychotic over the choice of Sarah Palin as the VP candidate. If you want a look at your party's input and thought processes, take a walk over to <http://www.democraticunderground.com>. The foul language and spit-flying diatribes against Gov. Palin show just about everything that is wrong with your party. Ms. Palin is going to put the Repub Party over the top and they know it.

John McCain is a hero, whose accomplishments in the Navy make Mr. Obama's "resume" a joke.

Re. Intelligent Design – I do not believe in it, having earned a degree in Anthropology. But why not expose kids to it as well as to evolution theory? Hysterical banning of some subjects never works (see China, where the government has tried mightily and failed to keep Western ideas and culture out). If one cannot argue that their ideas are superior, then the ideas being defended can't defend themselves.

Re. The Supreme Court: it has been a Dem puppet for 40 years. Time for a more balanced approach, my friend.

Abortion will not be abolished. Even the conservative SC justices have said that. Please stop hyperventilating. As an NRA instructor and retired military officer I was disappointed to see the 2nd Amendment upheld by just a 5-4 vote. Should have been 9-0. Why liberals screech about banning the right to self-defense remains a mystery to me. Dems seem to believe that it is better for a woman to be raped and strangled than to let her shoot the person trying to kill her.

Drilling in the Arctic is overdue. The idea that drilling in .00001% of Alaska threatens anything is ridiculous (see attached). I cannot ride a bicycle to work and can't afford a hybrid car. Perhaps you are volunteering to drive me instead?

I will not sink to your level of name-calling AND USING LOTS OF CAPS AND EXCLAMATION POINTS!!!!

I grew-up in a liberal Jewish Dem household. It wasn't until I joined the Navy and saw the real world did I realize that the politics I had been taught were just plain wrong.

You are not on my mailing list, but I felt it appropriate to reply to your personally insulting screed.

As you have indicated you wish no further communication with me, let me leave you in

Peace and love,

(navy1)
